REPORT
No. 98-155

FIRST CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ON THE BUDGET—FISCAL YEAR 1984

JUNE 20, 1983.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. DOMENICI, from the committee of conference, submitted the following

CONFERENCE REPORT

[To accompany H. Con. Res. 91]

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 91) revising the congressional budget for the United States Government for the fiscal year 1983 and setting forth the congressional budget for the United States Government for the fiscal years 1984, 1985, and 1986 having met, after full and free conference, have been unable to agree on a conference report because the conference decisions have changed certain budget figures outside the scope of conference. As set forth in the accompanying Joint Explanatory Statement, the conferees do propose a congressional budget incorporated in a further amendment for the consideration of the two Houses.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 91) revising the congressional budget for the United States Government for the fiscal year 1983 and setting forth the congressional budget for the United States Government for the fiscal years 1984, 1985, and 1986, report that the conferees have been unable to agree. This is a technical disagreement, necessitated by the fact that in some instances the conference decisions include figures which (for purely technical reasons) would fall outside the range between the corresponding House and Senate provisions.

It is the intention of the conferees that the managers on the part of the House will offer a motion in the House to recede and concur in the Senate amendment to the House-passed resolution with an amendment (in the nature of a substitute) consisting of the language agreed to in conference. Upon the adoption of such amendment in the House, the managers on the part of the Senate will offer a motion in the Senate to concur therein.

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate submit the following joint statement in explanation of the action agreed upon by the managers:

The substitute language which is to be offered as described above (and which should be considered the language of the concurrent resolution as recommended in the conference report for purposes of section 302(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974)—hereinafter in this statement referred to as the "conference substitute"—is as follows:

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 4. No bill or resolution providing new discretionary budget authority or new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, for fiscal year 1984, which exceeds the appropriate allocation of new discretionary budget authority or new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act shall be enrolled in the House of Representatives, and no bill or resolution providing new budget authority or new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, for fiscal year 1984, which exceeds the appropriate allocation of new budget authority or new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act shall be enrolled in the Senate, until after the Congress has completed action on the second concurrent resolution on the budget required to be reported under section 310 of such Act or until October 1, 1983, whichever occurs first.

SEC. 5. (a) If Congress has not completed action by October 1, 1983, on the concurrent resolution on the budget required to be reported under section 310(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 for the 1984 fiscal year, then this concurrent resolution shall be deemed to be the concurrent resolution required to be reported under section 310(a) of such Act, for the purposes of section 311 of such Act.

(b) Section 311(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as made applicable by subsection (a) of this section, shall not apply to bills, resolutions, or amendments within the jurisdication of a committee, or any conference report on any such bill or resolution, if—

(1) the enactment of such bill or resolution as reported;

(2) the adoption and enactment of such amendment; or

(3) the enactment of such bill or resolution in the form recommended in such conference report;

would not cause the appropriate allocation for such committee of new discretionary budget authority, new budget authority, or new spending authority as described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 made pursuant to section 302(a) of such Act for fiscal year 1984 to be exceeded.

(c) The provisions of this section shall cease to apply when Congress completes action on a subsequent concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 1984 pursuant to section 304 or 310 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

SEC. 6. Monetary Policy.—Inasmuch as—

(1) there is a need for coordination betweeen fiscal and monetary policy,

(2) actual and projected budget deficits have placed a heavy burden on monetary policy.

(3) any reduction in the budget deficit brought about by this budget resolution will reduce pressures on monetary policy,

(4) there is a need for vigorous economic growth consistent with reasonable price stability,

(5) the Banking and Budget Committees of the respective Houses require information regarding the Federal Reserve's monetary policy and the economic assumptions consistent with that policy, and

(6) the Budget Committees are, therefore, interested in the recommendations of the Banking Committees of the respective Houses with respect to such information,

the House Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, and the Senate committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs are requested to report to their respective bodies, no later than September 30, 1983, a resolution expressing the sense of the Congress as to (A) the coordination of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy with the fiscal policy reflected in this budget resolution and the appropriate information regarding the economic assumptions and goals of the Federal Reserve System, (B) the appropriate information to implement this policy coordination including, but not limited to, the effects of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy on the economy, and (C) any other matters pertaining to the Federal Reserve's execution or congressional oversight of monetary policy, as the above Committees deem appropriate.

SEC. 7. It is the sense of the Congress that, in light of budget restraint, limited resources, and the need to foster economic growth, the House Committee on Armed Services should initiate a thorough review of military retirement programs which constitute a major sector of the defense budget and should recommend changes which would result in reduced spending under these programs.

SEC. 8. It is the sense of the Congress the President and the Congress, through the appropriations process, should limit the on-budget new direct loan obligations of the Federal Government to an amount not to exceed $38,150,000,000 in fiscal year 1983 and $31,000,000,000 in fiscal year 1984; off-budget new direct loan obligations to an amount not to exceed $16,100,000,000 in fiscal year 1983 and $16,900,000,000 in fiscal year 1984; new primary loan guarantee commitments to an amount not to exceed $99,600,000,000 in fiscal year 1983 and $101,700,000,000 in fiscal year 1984; and new secondary loan guarantee commitments to an amount not to exceed $68,250,000,000 in fiscal year 1983 and $68,250,000,000 in fiscal year 1984. It is further the sense of the Congress that the President and the Congress should limit total Federal Financing Bank origination of direct loans guaranteed by other Federal agencies to $15,000,000,000, in fiscal year 1983 and $15,500,000,000 in fiscal year 1984, and Federal Financing Bank purchases of certificates of beneficial ownership from Federal agencies to $12,050,000,000 in fiscal year 1983 and $13,950,000,000 in fiscal year 1984. It is further the sense of the Congress that direct borrowing transactions of Federal agencies should be, to the maximum extent possible, restricted to the Federal Financing Bank.

SEC. 9. It is the sense of the Congress and the budgets of Federal agencies initiating Federal Financing Bank purchases of certificates of beneficial ownership and originations of guaranteed loans should include the budget authority and outlays resulting from the transactions. The Congress recommends that the committees with jurisdiction over the Federal Financing Bank Act of 1973 consider expeditiously legislation to require that the budgetary impact of such Federal Financing Bank transactions be included in the budgets of the initiating agencies beginning with the fiscal year 1985 budget.

Reserve Fund

The House resolution provided budget authority and outlays for several new initiatives in domestic programs.

The Senate amendment provided for some, but not all, of these new initiatives.

The conference substitute establishes a procedure whereby a reserve is set aside for identified programs to be effective only upon the enactment of the authorizing legislation.

The conferees have agreed to reserve from allocation to committees a specified amount of budget authority and outlays for fiscal years 1983 and 1984. The statement of managers describes what programs can be funded from the reserve amount and at what levels. The budget aggregates and functional categories, as listed below, are set forth including the amounts reserved from allocation and excluding the amounts reserved from allocation.

The section 302(a) allocation of the Appropriations Committee is to be increased when the authorization for a program assumed in the reserve fund is enacted. The section 302(a) allocation of a committee reporting new entitlement legislation or direct spending legislation assumed in the reserve fund is to be increased when the legislation is reported. In the Senate, this allocation would occur when the Senate "moves to proceed" or "proceeds to consideration" of the specific legislation. The spending ceiling pursuant to section 311(a) of the Budget Act will not reflect the reserve fund until the allocation has actually been made to a committee, at which point the spending ceiling would be adjusted respectively. Any adjustment to a committee's 302(a) allocation for a particular program shall not exceed the amount for that program set forth in the statement of managers. The Budget Committees will perform the ministerial task of reporting to their respective Houses any adjustment to a committee's 302(a) allocation or the spending ceiling which would be triggered under the reserve fund procedure. The identified programs which may be funded from the reserve fund are described below and the amount of budget authority and outlays reserved for such programs is set forth in the following table:

Economic Assumptions

The conferees accepted the economic assumptions shown in the table below as the basis for the revenue, spending and credit estimates in the conference substitute. These economic assumptions update and revise those contained in the House resolution and the Senate amendment to the House-passed resolution. Both the House and Senate based their economic assumptions on projections prepared by the Congressional Budget Office in January 1983. Recent economic developments and economic data reported since the beginning of the year make these revisions desirable.

Revenues

The House resolution provided a revenue floor of $606.2 billion in FY 1983, $689.1 billion in FY 1984, $765.9 billion in FY 1985, and $831.5 billion in FY 1986. It provided that revenues be decreased by $0.1 billion in FY 1983 and be increased by $30.0 billion in FY 1984, $40.0 billion in FY 1985, and $50.0 billion in FY 1986. In addition, revenue increases of $5.2 billion in fiscal year 1984, $8.1 billion in FY 1985, and $8.0 billion in FY 1986 were assumed for social security legislation.

The Senate amendment to the House-passed resolution set a revenue floor of $603.325 billion in FY 1983, $671.100 billion in FY 1984, $743.075 billion in FY 1985, and $835.900 billion in FY 1986. It provided that revenues should be increased by $0.125 billion in FY 1983, $9.900 billion in FY 1984, $13.675 billion in FY 1985, and $51.000 billion in FY 1986. Revenue increases in the Senate amendment for social security legislation were built into the revenue baseline.

The conferees agreed to a number of technical and economic reestimates to the original baseline revenues, and the conference substitute provides for current law revenues and revenue changes as follows:

[In billions of dollars]

Budget Aggregates and Functional Allocations

The following tables show the budget aggregates and functional allocations provided for in the House resolution and the Senate amendment. The tables show the conference substitute for the budget aggregates and functional allocations including the reserve amounts and the budget aggregates and functional allocations excluding the reserve amounts.

Function 050: National Defense

The conference substitute provides 5 percent real growth in budget authority for National Defense for each of the fiscal years 1984–86. It assumes a 4 percent civilian employee and military personnel pay raise effective January 1984 and assumes that the Department of Defense will absorb 17 percent of the cost of the fiscal 1984 civilian employee pay raise. For fiscal years 1985 and 1986 the conference substitute contains a 4-percent civilian employee and military personnel pay raise effective in January of each year, and assumes that the Department of Defense will absorb an amount of the pay raise comparable to the amount absorbed in FY 1984.

Function 250: General Science, Space and Technology

The conferees assume that the totals for this function could accommodate continued operation of production lines for the shuttle orbiter program.

Function 570: Medical Insurance and Function 650: Social Security

Public Law 98–21, the Social Security Amendments of 1983, required a separate display of tax receipts and spending for the social security and medicare trust funds. Pursuant to Public Law 98–21, the Senate amendment included two new functions: Function 570 (medical insurance) and function 650 (social security). In addition, the Senate amendment separated the revenues collected for hospital insurance and the revenues collected for old-age, surviviors, and disability insurance from the aggregate revenue number.

The House receded to the Senate language.

Function 850: General Purpose Fiscal Assistance

It is the intent of the conferees that if the reauthorization of the general revenue sharing program includes an acceleration in outlays from that assumed in current law and reflected in the conference agreement, that acceleration would be accommodated without regard to the outlay level assumed in the agreement.

Function 920. Allowances

The conference substitute assumes a 4-percent civilian employee pay raise effective January 1984, and assumes that the civilian agencies will absorb $150 million, or 17 percent, of the cost of the FY 1984 pay raise. For fiscal years 1985 and 1986 the conference substitute assumes a 4-percent pay raise effective in January in each fiscal year and assumes the civilian agencies will absorb $150 million of the costs of this pay raise in each year.

Reconciliation Instructions

The conference substitute includes reconciliation instructions to four Senate committees and seven House committees to report legislation to achieve savings in fiscal years 1984, 1985, and 1986. These savings are necessary for the committees to remain within the spending limits contemplated in the resolution.

It is the intent of the conferees that none of the savings directed to be achieved for the medicare program shall come from provisions to increase costs to beneficiaries or from reductions in services to beneficiaries. Rather, savings are to be obtained from improved control on providers of service.

The Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee are also instructed by the resolution to report legislation to increase revenues in the fiscal years 1984–86.

In addition, the House resolution included a provision whereby changes in laws which are reported by the House Ways and Means Committee requiring imposition of new or expanded taxes or user fees within another committee's jurisdiction should be considered for referral under House rule X. The conference substitute includes this provision.

The Senate amendment contained reconciliation instructions to the House Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry. The House resolution contained no such provision.

Both the House resolution and the Senate amendment assumed savings under subtitle A of title I of Public Law 97-253, relating to two 50-cent per hundredweight assessments against milk producers. It is the intent of the conferees that in the event that the law is finally adjudicated to be unconstitutional or unenforceable, then the House Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry shall report legislation ensuring the savings contemplated by the Congress in P.L. 97-253.

Deferred Enrollment

The House resolution provided for the deferred enrollment of certain spending bills pursuant to section 301(b) of the Congressional Budget Act.

The House resolution provided that spending bills exceeding the appropriate allocation of new discretionary budget authority or new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of thte Budget Act for fiscal year 1984 could not be enrolled until the Second Budget Resolution adopted for that year or until October 1, 1983, whichever occurs first.

The Senate amendment to the House resolution did not contain this provision. The Senate conferees receded to the House, with an amendment to make the provision applicable to Senate procedure.

The conference substitute provides that spending bills exceeding the appropriate allocation under section 302 of the Budget Act shall not be enrolled until the adoption of the Second Budget Resolution. For the Senate the appropriate allocations are "new budget authority" and "new spending authority"; for the House the appropriate allocations are "new discretionary budget authority" and "new spending authority".

Optional Second Budget Resolution

The House resolution contained language that converts the resolution into the Second Concurrent Resolution on the Budget on October 1, 1983, if Congress does not otherwise adopt a resolution by that date. The House version also provided that, if the automatic provision is invoked, the levels of budget authority, outlays, and revenues could be revised to reflect updated technical and economic assumptions. The House resolution also provided that the spending ceiling and revenue floors for enforcement purposes under section 311 of the Budget Act would not apply to bills or resolutions which do not exceed a committee's appropriate allocation of new discretionary budget authority and new spending authority made under the First Budget Resolution.

The Senate amendment contained no such provision. The conferees agreed to delete language allowing revisions of the resolution to reflect changes in technical and economic assumptions if the automatic provision is invoked. The Senate receded to the House with that amendment and an amendment to make the provision applicable to Senate procedures.

Monetary Policy

The House resolution contained a sense of the Congress provision that monetary policy and the economic assumptions in the budget resolution shall be consistent with each other. The section further provided that the Federal Reserve shall report to Congress on its economic objectives and their relationship to the economic assumptions and projections of the President, the Congressional Budget Office, and the most recent Congressional budget resolution.

The Senate amendment to the House resolution contained a sense of Congress provision that there is a need for coordination between fiscal and monetary policy and that the Banking Committees of the respective Houses should report a resolution expressing the sense of Congress as to the coordination of monetary and fiscal policy.

The conference substitute provides:

Inasmuch as—

(1) there is a need for coordination between fiscal and monetary policy,

(2) actual and projected budget deficits have placed a heavy burden on monetary policy,

(3) any reduction in the budget deficit brought about by this budget resolution will reduce pressures on monetary policy,

(4) there is a need for vigorous economic growth consistent with reasonable price stability.

(5) the Banking and Budget Committees of the respective Houses require information regarding the Federal Reserve's monetary policy and the economic assumptions consistent with that policy, and

(6) the Budget Committees are, therefore, interested in the recommendations of the Banking Committees of the respective Houses with respect to such information,

the House Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, and the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs are requested to report to their respective bodies, no later than September 30, 1983, a resolution expressing the sense of the Congress as to (a) the coordination of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy with the fiscal policy reflected in this budget resolution and the appropriate information regarding the economic assumptions and goals of the Federal Reserve System, (b) the appropriate information to implement this policy coordination including, but not limited to, the effects of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy on the economy, and (c) any other matters pertaining to the Federal Reserve's execution or congressional oversight of monetary policy, as the above Committees deem appropriate.

The conferees intend that "fiscal policy" as used in this provision includes the effect of Federal credit assistance programs.

Military Retirement

The House resolution contained sense of the Congress language that the House Committee on Armed Services should initiate a review of military retirement program changes which would result in reduced spending under those programs. The Senate amendment did not contain this provision.

The Senate conferees receded to the House.

Section 302(b) Requirement

The Senate amendment provided that it shall not be in order to consider spending bills within the jurisdiction of a committee until that committee has filed its report as required under section 302(b) of the Budget Act. The House resolution did not contain this provision.

The Senate conferees receded to the House.

Credit Budget

The House resolution and the Senate amendment contained nonbinding credit budget targets and functional totals. The following tables show the aggregate and functional totals contained in the House resolution, the Senate amendment, and the conference substitute for each of the 4 fiscal years covered by the resolution. In addition, the first table, which reflects the revised credit budget for FY 1983, also includes the credit budget aggregate targets and functional totals contained in the Second Budget Resolution for FY 1983.

Amounts reserved pursuant to section 2 in functions 350, 370, and 450 also affect the credit budget. The accompanying tables show the credit budget aggregate and functional totals contained in the conference substitute including and excluding the credit budget impact of the amounts reserved pursuant to section 2.

The House resolution and the Senate amendment included new direct loan obligations and new primary loan guarantee commitments. The House resolution also included new secondary loan guarantee commitments; the Senate amendment did not. The conference substitute includes all three credit budget program measures.

OTHER CREDIT BUDGET PROVISIONS

The Senate amendment expressed the sense of the Congress that the President and Congress, through the appropriations process, limit on-budget and off-budget new direct loan obligations and new primary loan guarantee commitments to specified amounts in fiscal years 1983 and 1984. Also, the Senate amendment expressed the sense of the Congress that Federal Financing Bank originations of loans guaranteed by and purchases of loan assets from Federal agencies be limited to specified amounts in fiscal years 1983 and 1984. Further, the Senate amendment expressed the sense of the Congress that direct borrowing transactions of Federal agencies should be restricted to the Federal Financing Bank to the maximum extent possible. The House resolution did not contain such provisions. The conference substitute contains the Senate provisions adjusted to be consistent with the aggregate credit budget targets and functional totals in the substitute.

The Senate amendment contained a provision requiring an estimated allocation of new direct loan obligations and new loan guarantee commitments in fiscal years 1983 and 1984 to the appropriate committees of the House and Senate. Further, the Senate amendment required the committees of the House and Senate receiving such allocations to subdivide those allocations among their subcommittees. The House-passed resolution contained no similar provision. The conference substitute does not contain the Senate provision.

The Senate amendment expressed the sense of the Congress that Federal agencies selling loan assets to or guaranteeing loans originated by the Federal Financing Bank should have the budget authority and outlays resulting from those transactions reflected in their agency budgets. The Senate amendment further recommended that the appropriate committees with jurisdiction over the Federal Financing Bank Act of 1973 consider expeditiously legislation to require that the budgetary impact of Federal Financing Bank transactions be included in the budgets of the initiating agencies beginning with the fiscal year 1985 budget. The House resolution contained no similar provision. The conference substitute contains the Senate provision.
